

Wyoming Procedures for Individual Surplus Lines Brokers

The Wyoming Insurance Department uses the SLAS Clearinghouse for all surplus lines policy reporting and tax payments. The SLAS Clearinghouse is a uniform filing platform for state regulators and licensed brokers created with the Surplus Lines Automation Suite (SLAS) technology.

All Wyoming individual Surplus Lines Brokers must register with the SLAS Clearinghouse. Brokers are encouraged to sign up for eNews Alerts on the main page of the SLAS Clearinghouse website.

When Wyoming is the home state, all policy transactions are reported through the SLAS Clearinghouse with 100% of the premium being taxed at the Wyoming tax rate of 3 percent. A Clearinghouse transaction fee of 0.175% is charged on the gross premium for all policy transactions. W.S. § 26-11-105 requires that each Surplus Lines Broker report surplus lines transactions within 45 days after placing the insurance.

Surplus Lines Brokers will be invoiced quarterly for the state premium taxes and SLAS Clearinghouse transaction fees due. A detailed Billing Report and both invoices will be delivered to the Broker's SLIP InBox on the first business day following the end of the quarter. State taxes for Wyoming must be paid electronically via ACH transaction in SLIP. Please provide your bank with the ACH Company ID's prior to submitting any payment.
